	Question: Most effective learning aspects of course
	I enjoyed the way the material was presented to me.
	I loved Dr. Kochs stories. When teachers tell about their experience with the topic theyre teaching, its always so much helpful.
	He has the best attitude towards teaching and I love it, he is so fun to learn from and I really enjoyed his class.
	I like how it talks about the history about sociology.
	very organized course
	posting lectures and extra credit
	The most effective aspect of this course is his lectures and the unit papers. His lectures may be slightly fast paced, but they fill out everything on the unit papers, which helps with completing the test.
	The lectures and videos
	Review days
	I liked the way Koch would let us have a study day on the day of our exams they helped me recall and go over subjects with him so I could have a deeper understanding. As well as all the examples and real life from the present to the past he uses throughout his lectures. It helps me get a better understanding and grasp since I can relate it to my time.
	The professor was very great and helpful.

	the whole class revolved around meeting face to face every other day. listening to his way of thinking about the world made me open up my thinking of societal roles and how things come to be.
	How the class structure was.
	Dr. Kochs practice of incorporating relevant stories into his lectures maintained strong engagement and facilitated retention of the concepts.
	the lectures
	The most effective aspects was definitely the fact that Dr.Koch was an entertaining professor and kept my and the rest of the class's focus the entire time. He spoke clearly and told personal stories related to the topic that kept me hooked and helped me understand the lectures
	The lectures and assignments were most effective. He always kept the lectures interesting and the assignments always correlated to the topic of the lecture which had me relate a personal experience to what the topic was.
	They way the professor made allegories about the topic from his life
	He was very organized and taught very well
	The most effective aspect in this course was just how great my professor is. He teaches in a way that wants you to keep trying and learning.
	The most effective aspect of this course was the recoding lectures because I was able to return to the lecture on blackboard and take any notes I missed.
	I loved the lectures, they were very informative and interesting. The format of the lectures I really enjoyed.
	I enjoyed the lectures because I got all the information I needed to be successful on my exams.
	There were a lot of examples given that helped clarify the things we were learning and further helped my understanding of the content.
	The Perspective Triangle! Most questions from this course were related to the three perspectives we learned, and the triangle made deciphering several asked questions miles easier. It got even easier the more you used it!
	He gave real life examples of what content was covered in class.
	Question: Least effective learning aspects of course
	I felt that the lecture quizzes were a bit pointless, but at the same time I understand why they were there.
	The reading was tiresome, but mostly because I always struggle with reading.
	Nothing
	Sometimes its hard to distinguish on the micro and macro level.
	nothing
	none
	Im not sure what the least effective aspect would be in this course.
	probably the I2Es.
	Nothing
	I dont think theres anything that he did that wanst effective.
	Nothing, everything was great.
	honestly he structured his class very well and made it in a way so students have to listen in order to pass the quizzes.

	How many units there were.
	The least effective aspects in learning were the tests. More writing assignments like he gives, connecting the ideas to real life would have made the course more relevant for me. I wouldnt recommend changing anything drastically though, as currently the course is well structured and manageable.
	lecture quizzes
	I had no problems.
	I guess not being told what to write down, but even then that's smart because that means we have to pay attention
	N/A
	The least effective aspect from this course was not being able to get one on one with the professor as it is a big class.
	N/A
	Least effective aspects were trying to know what to write down for notes, but this wasn't bad because the notes where always posted later on.
	I didnt look at any of the readings that were posted for every lecture.
	There were a lot of personal stories that interrupted the content and course learning.
	I actually could not find any aspects of this course that were less effective than one another! I found all them to contribute in some way to everything we did throughout the course!
	Effective
	Question: Additional comments about instructor
Koch	Koch was a great professor. I enjoyed how passionate he was about what he was teaching.
Koch	Dr. Koch is an excellent teacher; he knows the topic well, and he wants us to understand and learn it too. Im glad to of gotten him for this class.
Koch	I have nothing bad to say about this professor its so great how he teaches an intro level class so all the new freshmen can see how college is not that scary and its kind of like High School. One of the BEST professors I have ever had!
Koch	Great teacher!
Koch	I enjoy attending Dr.Kochs lectures. I find the man talented in his field and will always respect him.
Koch	Dr. Koch is a good professor and funny.
Koch	Hes a great professor and should continue on doing what he does.
Koch	very intelligent professor, he makes every lecture interesting and very thought provoking.
Koch	I just wish he slowed down a bit but other wise hes a very good teacher.
Koch	I commend Dr. Koch for his grace in navigating the difficult topics necessary to understand the introductory level sociology he teaches.
Koch	great guy
Koch	Another great professor who loves to teach their class and talk with students. He made sure everyone understood and was always ready to answer to questions, if any.
Koch	He's a very good professor and I hope he continues what he does for a long time!
Koch	N/A

Koch	He is a great professor and I strongly advise anyone to take his classes.
Koch	N/A
Koch	I really liked the class and found it very interesting!
Koch	I thought he was fun and all but sometimes he would say the most random stuff about religion that I and most others dont agree with and I feel like he shouldnt do that just because of his audience. Also, the gay minister was kind of odd because he was NOT speaking from the Bible.
Koch	A fun instructor that made class interesting and engaging.
Koch	It was absolutely wonderful being your student! Wishing you the best! Dont stop the dad jokes, they are absolute gems and made my Tues./Thurs. mornings a million times better!

	Question: Most effective learning aspects of course
	Instruction and ITE
	Mr. Koch provided positive ways of thinking and many perspectives of what people are currently going through. He expresses the importance of unity.
	I really liked having the lecture recordings. I couldnt always make class and even when I did, being able to listen to the lecture again was really helpful.
	The class is engaging and straightforward.
	I enjoyed some of the lecture videos.
	made class fun to learn
	Engaging with the students
	The professor. He was very interactive and got the information across effectively.
	The way the instructor engaged with the class during the lectures
	Did a good job of going over material in class.
	Lectures werent boring and were made interesting. The test reviews before each exam were extremely helpful.
	review in class the day the test is opened Listening to lectures and going to class.
	all the lectures are recorded.

	The lectures were put together really well and I was able to understand all of the course material.
	I really liked how engaging he is as a teacher and he made it really easy to pay attention.
	The Ideas to ethics pieces were really effective in thinking about the lectures we had and applying it to a personal written response
	I loved everything about this course, the topics were perfect and relevant.
	I thought the structure of the lectures was very effective.
	I think this course was very beneficial and everyone should take it.
	I believe the most effective thing was the input of his stories that gave us a better perspective.
	Having recorded lessons to go back and listen to if you missed something
	The most effective aspects of this course were always being engaged with the course. The course had a very interesting way to involve life to the class itself and what we were being taught. Everything we needed was found in one area. It was a class that I would take again if I could.
	The I2E writing assignments really helped apply the topics we were talking about to our own lives. Exams were super clear and easy if you were paying attention.
	His stories with what was being spoken on helped understand the material better.
	Lectures
	Explained topics with much detail.
	I liked the way that the course was organized, since it made me feel more confident, as we lingered on stuff I was more iffy on longer.
	Critical thinking
	The lectures because they were very entertaining which made me learn better.
	The most effective aspect I would say was his lectures. The professor had me thinking on some points about certain things
	The most effective aspects were the assignments and engagement with the class. Especially the "say it with me" parts.
	He was a good teacher
	the way he explained everything helped me out so much
	Telling stories and tying it in with the lesson
	Question: Least effective learning aspects of course
	NA
	N/A
	I believe the least effective aspects of the course were the tangents the professor went off on and how he was politically biased in multiple lectures.
	n/a
	nothing
	Id say that every assignment is online so even without learning you can cheat.
	N/A

	Did a lot of story telling during class overcrowding in lecture hall going to the reviews before test.
	N/A.
	none
	nothing
	I think some of the online stuff was hard for me to grasp onto but it was still very interesting and I wouldnt mind reading them again
	There was nothing I found ineffective.
	I can't of anything that wasn't effective.
	The least effective thing was not having more visible learning aids besides just lectures.
	There was no least effective aspect/s of this course.
	No slideshow or anything to look at while taking notes, this made it a little easier to zone out in the class, although Professor Koch made his lectures very interesting to listen to. I am just normally need something to do when I am just listening to things.
	n/a
	I think that the least effective thing about the course was the bouncing around we did sometimes, we had a gender lesson at the beginning of the year and the end of the year, for example.
	lecture quizzes because the questions werent always questions about our material but about the teacher.
	This isnt the place to talk or try and convince people with statistics to believe different sides of politics. No matter what your PERSONAL political beliefs you have, it shouldnt be in class, I understand its sociology but politics is a wholeeee different subject. I pay to learn about the behavior of social life and groups. Not statistics of immigration. Plus why do we have to write our own obituary? Isnt this the study of social life and groups, not about yourself??? At least Im going to pass
	Nothing
	n/a
	Not much interaction and I learn better that way
	Question: Additional comments about instructor
Koch	I learned so much from Mr. Koch, and appreciate his awesome stories throughout his lectures.
Koch	This was by far the most enjoyable class I have taken to date. I really liked Mr. Kochs teaching style and felt like I took something away from every lecture.
Koch	Great instructor.
Koch	Dr. Koch is a brilliant professor! He always makes class something to look forward to and is passionate in what he does!
